Happy Father's Day

DAD

*Can play like a kid,
Give advice like a friend,
Protect like a bodyguard,
And love unconditionally!*

Happy Father's Day! To all our dad's, we appreciate you and hope you have an enjoyable father's day.

Our Star had a great time dressing up as prince and princesses. They were so excited that the weather was nice and warm, they can plant their veggies in the ground. Most importantly, dig for worms.

This month they will learn about pets, zoo and farm animals.

Safety Rules in or around water: Your child may encounter small bodies of water, please be aware, such as bathtubs, ditches, fishponds, fountains, rain barrels, watering cans - even the bucket you use when you wash the car. Empty containers of water when you're done using them. Children need constant supervision to be sure they don't fall in, because they are drawn to places and things like these.

Children who are swimming - even in a shallow toddler's pool always should be watched by an adult, preferably one who knows CPR. The adult should be within arm's length, providing "touch supervision" whenever infants, toddlers, or young children are in or around water. Empty and put away inflatable pools after each play session.

•Enforce safety rules: Walking always near the pool and hands to yourself above and underwater.

•Don't allow your child to use inflatable toys or mattresses in place of a life jacket. These toys may deflate suddenly, or your child may slip off them into water that is too deep for them.

•Be sure the deep and shallow ends of any pool your child swims in are clearly marked. Never allow your child to dive into the shallow end.

•Backyard swimming pools, (including large, inflatable above-ground pools), should be fenced in. The fence should have a self-closing and self-latching gate that opens away from the pool, with the latch at least 54 inches high. Check the gate frequently to be sure it is in good working order. Keep the gate closed and locked at all times. Be sure your child cannot manipulate the lock or climb the fence.

•If your pool has a cover, remove it completely before swimming. Also, never allow your child to walk on the pool cover; water may have accumulated on it, making it as dangerous as the pool itself.

•Keep a safety ring with a rope beside the pool at all times. If possible, have a phone in the pool area with emergency numbers clearly marked.

•Spas and hot tubs are very dangerous for young children, they can easily drown or become overheated in them. Don't allow young children to use them.

•Your child should always wear a life jacket when they swim or ride in a boat. A life jacket fits properly, if you can't lift it off over your child's head after he's been fastened into it. For the child under age five, particularly the non-swimmer, it also should have a flotation collar to keep the head upright and face out of the water.

•Adults should not drink alcohol when they are swimming. It presents a danger for them as well as for any children they might be supervising.

•Eliminate distractions while children are in the water. Working on the computer, talking on the phone and other tasks need to wait until children are out of the water.
